Princess Anne Would Rather Sleep

Seen in her limousine upon arrival at King's Cross Station, London, is Princess Elizabeth with her two children and nurse. Seems as if Princess Anne would rather sleep. And that's important to her mother, too, as she had the watch-dogs taken off the palace grounds recently because they kept her baby awake.

A wedding of great interest to residents of Tawatinaw district took place at three o'clock on Saturday, Oct. 28, at Poplar Grove Church, Tawatinaw, when Marjorie Arlene, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bunker, was united in marriage to William James Lambie, second son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Lambie of Thor-hill. The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, wore a floor-length gown of white sheer fashioned with lace trimmed cummerbund around the shoulders, and with a full peplum. Her veil of embroidered net was the one worn by her grandmother, Mrs. Wm. J. Burchett, forty-two years ago. She carried a bouquet of roses and fern.

The bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Mauker, who wore a gown of rusty rose bengaline with matching veil, and Miss Elsie Lehto, who was gowned in turquoise blue bengaline with veil to match. Both carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Robert Lambie, and Mr. Mike Balasnek.

Fire is a Grim Reaper

Ten known dead, as a result of explosion and fire at Leduc last week is a relatively high death toll due to this catastrophe at the small hotel there. Our sympathy is extended to the hotel owners, the bereaved and the town of Leduc in this tragic loss.

There is increasing danger of more loss through fire as the cold winter weather grips Alberta in its icy grip for another five months. No precaution against fire is too elaborate. No one ever lost life or substance through fire because they were too careful.

Holding Back Inflation

Contrary to the views of the House of Commons Social Credit leader, this paper does not feel we can fight the Korean war by simply issuing more credit. That philosophy was fine in a period of depression and deflation but now government is faced with a situation where industry is competing with government for available man power and supplies, resulting in a spiralling cost of living index.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce, in its monthly survey of conditions, states that since November, 1947, Canada's reserves of U.S. dollars have been gradually increasing. The United States is bidding for Canadian goods and services, but also a great deal of the inflow of U.S. currency was due to speculative investment—in hopes the Canadian dollar would be pitted on a par with the U.S. dollar.

Instead of doing that, the government wisely freed it from control, to seek its own level. This then becomes an anti-inflationary move because the United States customers can't buy as much with their money as they did formerly and the cost of imports to Canadian consumers is less.

However, this is quite a small, though necessary step, in the war of inflation. More and more controls such as the recent Consumer Credit rulings are necessary to bring down the cost of living, or at least hold it in one place on the index.

Farm Prosperity

J. H. Wesson, president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, said last week that Western Canadian wheat farmers are dependent to a substantial extent upon the purchasing power of overseas wheat importing nations. The lack of such purchasing power on the continent of Europe in recent years made necessary the generous use of Marshall Plan funds for the purchase of Canadian wheat and Canada's billion dollar gift to Great Britain, and also justified the Canada-United Kingdom wheat agreement.

Canadian farmers did not get prices for their wheat comparable to United States wheat prices, Mr. Wesson said, because in the latter country the market is supported by a government floor figure and does not reflect any actual world price. In 1942, he said, when the Canadian floor price was 70¢, May wheat was quoted on the Chicago market at $1.29½.

Note and Comment

Conviction brings a silent, indefinable beauty into faces made of the commonest clay, the devout worshipper at any shrine reflects something of its golden glow. —Honore De Balzac

Saskatchewan fears widespread grasshopper infestation next year. I. C. Nollet, provincial minister of agriculture, says that shallow fall tillage is the most effective means of combating this pest.

Canada's exports of wheat and wheat flour during the months of August and September totalled 32,901,276 bushels.

The Plight Of the Alcoholic

By T. W. Pue

A smart looking man, obviously above average in intelligence, suitably dressed for the time of year (it was late June) walked into my office several years ago when I was circulation manager of the Edmonton Bulletin. He told me he had worked for various other daily newspapers, particularly at the west coast and wanted a job travelling in Alberta. Most of the best young men were still overseas, and as we were short of help readily hired this fellow.

I'm ashamed to say it, but for two weeks he was on our payroll, and I don't believe he did two days work during that time. He was sent out to Alberta Beach to do one day's work, came back at the end of the week saying he had been sick, unable to return to the city and unable to write a letter or telephone us to say he was sick.

I secretly called him a liar, but the truth of the matter is that the man was sick.

He was continually unwell, because there was one over-powering drive in his life for which he weakly sacrificed all else that a man holds dear. This man, like over a million others in this continent, was and perhaps still is an alcoholic.

Who Is Alcoholic?

Yes, you can readily detect him. He's the poor bloke who is always poor, always broke. As a traveller, he can make as much money as the sober salesman, when he works. But he only works long enough to pay his last liquor debts and get completely soused again. Chances are he's never completely sober, unless taken by the law for killing or maiming innocent persons when he's drunk and then he is sober until released again from the clutches of the law.

T. W. Pue

He is boastful of how he can hold his liquor. His wife and family may be destitute and suffering, but the money he should be giving to them he spends as a good-time Charlie to make himself a big shot in the eyes of his pals.

He often goes from job to job, and if not particularly talented gets work only when there are plenty of jobs. I personally know scores of these men, and I believe they know they are alcoholics.

One of these chaps, in his youth in another province was a successful young newspaper publisher. He was active in politics and was elected as one of the youngest members of the House of Commons. He was a good dresser, good talker and good mixer. He was popular. In time he married and began to raise a family, and then alcoholism caught up with him.

It wasn't sufficient for our friend to have a "quickie" before meal time. He spent more and more time drinking. He couldn't find a drinking crony, he made a fast friend in a hurry, and spent 12 hours a day and not at all on Sundays and holidays. So he went to the Government liquor store before a holiday, or before closing time, and always had sufficient on hand to see him through until sobering-up time the next morning.

This man lost his job. He has more creditors than friends. His wife has divorced him and is now trying to get support for their two girls.

Alcohol Vs. Business

A man is an alcoholic whenever his craving for drink interferes with his business or his family responsibilities. Entreaties of mothers, wives, children and friends to leave the bottle alone are severity of no avail. Suffering the pangs of remorse at their conduct, alcoholics have to suffer the criticism of loved ones and soon find themselves unable to face the world. They drink to escape responsibility and then blame their irresponsible behavior on drink.

The Alcoholic's plight is not hopeless, unless he persists in the ideas that (a) he isn't an alcoholic and (b) that his drinking doesn't cause him financial or other loss.

Measures Against Alcoholism

I believe the twin liquor interests—the Government and the Industry are sincerely desirous of every drinker practicing moderation. I have talked to Hotel men who have deplored the case of the chronic drinker and have honestly tried to fulfill the legal and moral laws against excessive drinking.

Next week I want to continue this subject and discuss those regulations designed to keep the alcoholic from getting liquor, and tell you why I think the regulations fail and what steps could be taken to improve them. This will be the second in a series of three articles dealing with the subject of excessive drinking.

Oil Town Mayor

Dear Sir—The article in Maclean's Magazine's current issue "Oil Town Mayor" is just another point to show how far our town's name is spreading.

For one, like myself, who came with the Redwaters boom, it has been a pleasure to watch the town grow and expand; and it is an even greater pleasure to see it receive its just recognition.

But there was one point in Earle Beattie's article which really made me smile. In the closing statement, "Nineteen street lights blaze out on the prairie to mark the town of Redwater . . ." since when was our rugged bushland termed as prairie?

Luck vs. God

Dear Sir—Re statement made by Tim Buck recently and which appeared in Alberta papers to the effect that science, as far as he was concerned, had blotted out his faith in God. I am surprised that any newspaper would publish such ignorant tripe. Any man who puts himself up as a leader of people should be the last to deny the existence of a living God.

Plan New Provincial Park In Lac la Biche District

A new holiday centre may make its debut in Alberta in 1951.

Lac la Biche, 125 miles northeast of Edmonton, will probably be the site of a new provincial park offering tourist attractions not found elsewhere in Alberta.

Various Lac la Biche organizations have set as their prime objective the development of a community recreation centre and a provincial park in the thriving northern town.

Heretofore unrecognized as a potential tourist mecca, the Lac la Biche district is one of the most beautiful regions of Alberta, with hundreds of lakes and streams offering fine fishing and camping opportunities.

One of the most active organizations in tourist development at Lac la Biche has been the Lions Club.

Mr. Holloway, chairman of provincial parks, and Mr. Clark, secretary of the Parks Branch, were recent guests of the club.

Following a meeting in the new

Lac la Biche Hotel a party comprised of Mr. Holloway, Mr. Clark, H. Lebay, M.L.A., L. G. Hall, H. McCaskill, R. Raines and W. Gordichuk toured the community centre and then boarded the famous lake steamer "Kay Vi Lena" and were taken to Big Island by J. Stromblitzky.

Big Island was found to be one of the finest natural park areas of the province.

This beautiful island is situated about 200 yards off-shore. It is understood that building of a causeway from the mainland to the island will be relatively inexpensive.

Lac la Biche anticipates being able to welcome many thousands of Alberta citizens to her newest and finest playground in the vast lake-dotted northland, where fishing, hunting, boating and bathing are unexcelled.

WILSON MUM ON JAIL EXPENSES

H. J. Wilson, deputy attorney general for Alberta, has refused to disclose how much is being spent to maintain prisoners in the provincial jails at Fort Saskatchewan and Lethbridge.

A reporter for this newspaper asked Wilson if he would make a statement on this question.

"No. I certainly will not," was his reply.

Two weeks ago a Calgary labor organization hurled charges at the provincial government that a riot had been caused in Lethbridge jail over poor food being served to inmates.

Wilson later denied the charges, saying that the food in the provincial jails is "adequate."

When pressed for a statement, however, Wilson hedged enough to say that the figures are "available in the public accounts."

While the total cost of maintenance of prisoners in the provincial jails runs to a considerable figure, it has been reported that about 25 cents per day is spent to feed inmates.

It has been charged that overall high cost of administration is the result of inefficient operation, with prisoners being worked at menial tasks or not worked at all, rather than being employed in productive jail industries.

Information has been made available to this newspaper indicating that expenditure of food in the jails has been drastically cut, despite rising jail population. Several months ago a series of articles appeared in this paper on Fort Saskatchewan. Following their publication, Inspector Stott resigned his post, with the comment, "I'm fed up."

ALBERTANS HEAR TALES OF YUKON

Albertans who attended the Canadian Women's Press Club By-line Hall in Edmonton this week heard tales of adventure and romance in the Yukon by John Dynes, Alex Adams, Dave Ballantine and Andrew Baird. They spun stories of shooting the rapids through Chilkoot Pass, gold fever in the Klondike, entertaining in the Gold Nugget Dance Hall with Klondike Kate, and other famous personalities of yesteryear.

Enough Natural Gas Here For Export, Says Dixon

Alberta has enough natural gas to meet the "highest estimate" of Alberta's needs for the next 30 years, to permit a 20-year export program of 80 billion cubic feet per year and to leave a balance of 1.6 trillion cubic feet in 1980, according to A. F. Dixon, president of Northwest Natural Gas Company, who testified before the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board at Calgary last week.

The hearings were called by the Board to obtain from prospective pipe-line building companies, their estimates of how much gas was in Alberta's present wells, how much could be delivered from those wells and how much would be needed by the growing province in the next 30 years.

Mr. Dixon said his company's figures on Alberta's gas reserves were based on the latest independent survey.

Alberta's consumption at 78,000,000 Mcf. annually which gives a total requirement of 2,142,000 million cubic feet for Alberta during the 30 year period.

Export under the plan he proposed, would take 80 billion cubic feet annually via a short route pipeline to the Pacific Northwest and British Columbia, which on a 20-year plan would, along with Alberta's own 30-year needs, consume 4.4 trillion cubic feet including shrinkage and losses. Thus 1.6 trillion cubic feet would be left untouched in the present wells alone, apart from the obvious development which will bring in vast new gas fields in coming months and years.

A mother lost her little daughter in the week-end confusion at a railway station. After a frantic search she finally located the child in the midst of a group of nuns. Both the little girl and the nuns seemed to be having a good time.

"On the contrary," chuckled the Mother Superior. "Your little girl seems to imagine that we are penguins."

LETTER TO LOUISA*Young Man Won't Help Support Alberta Family

Dear Louisa:—I live with my mother and my only brother.

Mother works and so do I but brother doesn't seem to be able to hold a job very long. He is very pleasant but it gets on my nerves to have him sleeping late and sitting around the house all day while mother and I pay the bills.

Personally, I think he is just lazy and not interested in working when he can loaf but mother sympathizes with him and thinks I should help him out when he has the hard luck to be out of work. Which means that the money I had saved for a trip or some special thing very often goes into shirts and shoes for him.

I am getting tired of it and am thinking of getting a job in some other town as I am a very good stenographer. What do you think of this idea?

DISGUSTED.

Answer:

Why mothers think that their daughters should work to support big lazy boys I can never understand, but some of them seem to be blind to their son's faults and expect their daughters to take their hard earned money and keep baby boy who is six feet tall and enjoys his morning nap, not only in food and clothes but in cigarettes. Nothing can convince these dotting mothers that these boys are lazy and not suffering from bosses who misunderstand them.

My advice to you, Disgusted, is to tell him that he can either work or move on, and if that doesn't have any effect, move somewhere else as you are considering doing. There is no earthly reason for a young girl like yourself to support a brother who is healthy and has a good mind.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:—I would like to join a garden club but I understand you have to be invited. I have several friends who are interested in growing things and they would like to know if it would be all right for us to let some of the club members know we would like to join. What do you think of this?

Y. W.

Answer:

If you have the opportunity, you might let some of the members know you are interested. But a better plan, I think, is to get a group of your friends together for a small club and ask one or two members of a prominent club to help you organize and sponsor your new club. In this way they will know you are interested and may even suggest that you join with them rather than organize a new club.

LOUISA.

Five Alberta Farmers Named to Hall of Fame

Names of the five Albertans who have made outstanding contributions to agriculture in the province will be placed in the provincial government's agricultural hall of fame this year, Hon. David Ure, minister of agriculture, announced last week.

Mr. Ure said recognition would be given the late Henry Wise Wood, a pioneer farmer and leader; the late Joseph Harvey Johnson, university farm manager and animal husbandman; Claude Gallingier, Edmonton district farmer and importer and breeder of livestock; Frank Collicut, Crossfield, pioneer rancher and Hereford breeder; and Charles S. Noble, Nobleford, farmer and pioneer in the development of soil conservation practices and the designer of dry farming machinery.

The main hall of the department of agriculture in the legislative buildings will be designated for the hall of fame, according to Mr. Ure. A tablet of appropriate design will be erected and on this tablet will be inscribed the names of those who are from time to time elected.

A committee has been appointed to receive and select the names of those who are deemed worthy of the honor. The committee consists of the minister of agriculture, senior officials of the Alberta department of agriculture and the president of the Alberta Federation of agriculture.

TO DESIGN NEW STAMPS

The Post Office Department plans to invite Canadian artists to submit designs for Canadian postage stamps.

Postmaster General Rinfret desires that the character of Canada and Canadian art be displayed and publicized more adequately through the medium of Canadian postage stamps. It is hoped that the enlistment of the interest of Canadian artists in postage stamp designs will result in more variety and modern treatment. Five designs are asked for.

- Secondary Industries of Canada.
- Well-known wildflowers of Canada.
- The larger animals of Canada.
- Portraits of Canadian Indians or Esquimaux, or designs based on symbols of native life.
- Outdoor activities and scenes.

The Postmaster General has stated that the Department desires to obtain an adequate collection of designs suitable for reproduction on postage stamps that will be available for some years to come. The Department does not desire to conduct a competition for these designs but rather is announcing a plan that will be of a continuous nature, provided the results obtained are satisfactory. It is anticipated that in future years artists will be invited to submit designs on additional subjects. The Department will pay $300.00 for every design that is selected by the Committee. Designs accepted and paid for will become the property of the Department.

Farm Implement Supply May Drop

REGINA—Labor disputes and rising defence commitments may cut into farm machinery production in 1951. E. H. Ayling of Winnipeg said Friday at the Saskatchewan Implement Dealers' Association convention.

Mr. Ayling, vice-president and Canadian general sales manager of John Deere Plow Co., said "American business leaders are really taking this defence business seriously." He hoped farm machinery would be considered an essential industry because of the need for continuing food production.

Peimpeit Residence Severely Damaged

MORINVILLE.—At 3:05 on Tuesday morning the fire alarm brought a large number of citizens and members of the Morinville Fire Brigade to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Peimpeit where a fire of undetermined origin did a considerable amount of damage. Mrs. Peimpeit was alone with her son Larry at the time, was awakened by an explosion in the basement and upon looking down found the cellar full of smoke. She phoned in the alarm and then rushed her son to a nearby hatchery office. The interior of the house was very badly burned, and nothing was saved in furniture or clothing. Mr. Peimpeit who had gone to Legal earlier in the evening returned to find the house in complete ruins. Both the house and furniture were covered by insurance.

Notice To Ratepayers

Assessment Act Amendments, 1950

The 1950 Amendments to the Assessment Act provide, among other things, that on and after December 31st, 1950, all buildings and improvements in "every Municipality" shall be assessed at 100% of their value.

The Department has ruled that as the previous exemption of one-third was granted by Statute and the exemption has now been removed by Statute, it is not necessary to send out assessment notices covering the change. The main reason that the change was made effective on December 31st was that the revised assessment figures must appear on the School Assessment statement submitted to the School Division, early in the new year and will be used for taxation purposes beginning January 1st, 1951.

The Council of this Municipality wishes to inform its ratepayers of this change in the said Act.

Municipal District of Morinville, No. 91.
